

Luxhammar delivers complete wood thermal modification units.

Thermal modification is ecological method to protect wood against Bacidiomycetes. The treatment is based on natural method that makes wood protect itself. It combines thousands of years known phenomenon of improvement of woods decay resistance by heating with modern high technology.

Luxhammar Oy offer 24/7 maintenance and support services for our customers. We provide spare parts or complete replacement units. Standard parts are in stock and ready for shipment.